
Station 1: CEJ Zambia

Name: CEJ (CENTER FOR ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE AND HUMAN RIGHTS)

Website: https://www.cejzambia.com/about_us

Location: Lusaka, Zambia.

Connection to weltwärts: implementing organisation is the german association Welthaus Bielefeld (<https://www.welthaus.de/weltwaerts/einsatzplaetze/detail/news/detail/News/centre-for-environment-justice-umwelt-u-menschenrechte-kommunikation/>)

Basic information:

The Center for Environmental Justice (CER) is a non-governmental organization in Zambia. The CEJ believes that a safe environment is a fundamental human right and that children, youth, women, men and the general population have the right to access high quality and accurate information on extractive industries, environmental protection, sustainable energy, climate change, agriculture and have livelihoods and human rights. The program and activities of the CEJ focus on the dissemination of information, campaigns, research, lobbying, initiation of development processes at the political level and with the participation of rural communities.

Mission

To empower, enhance and strengthen environmentally challenged communities, youth, children, women and men by involving them in promoting environmental justice and sustainable management of natural resources.

Tasks (prepare the answers on a flipchart)

- Check the website of the organization and collect the basic information about the CEJ
 - Whats the aim of the organisation?
 - With whom and where do they work?
 - How do they get active?
 - In what projects do they work?
- Where do you see a connection to the topic of climate action in the work of CEJ?
- What do you like about the organisation?
- What is missing in your opinion?

Station 2: Forum Climate Change

Name: Forum climate Change

Website: <http://forumcc.or.tz/>

Location: Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania.

Connection to weltwärts: implementing organisation is the german German-Tanzanian Partnership e.V. (<https://dtpev.de/en/projects>)

Basic information:

Forum climate change was founded in 2008 in Tanzania. It is an umbrella organization that works with 90 Tanzanian sub-groups for climate protection for the benefit of the environment and above all of the poorest people who are most affected by climate change in Tanzania. Forum climate change works politically, does lobbying work, writes information materials, does educational work, runs campaigns and events, networks and organizes advance training's from the networks. Report in German and English.

Mission

The FORUMCC works to ensure effective and informed engagement of Civil Society in Climate Change issues and processes for the benefit of the environment and people in poverty – women, youth and men - who are mostly affected. It strives to achieve Policy change, Accountable climate finance and actions for resilience and sustainable low carbon economy.

Tasks (prepare the answers on a flipchart)

- Check the website of the organization and collect the basic information about the FCC
 - Whats the aim of the organisation?
 - With whom and where do they work?
 - How do they get active?
 - In what projects do they work?
- Where do you see a connection to the topic of climate action in the work of FCC?
- What do you like about the organisation?
- What is missing in your opinion?

Station 3: Ende Gelände

Name: Ende Gelände (EG)

Website: <https://www.ende-gelaende.org/en/>

Location: different cities in Germany

Connection to weltwärts: none directly

Basic information:

Ende Gelände is a broad alliance of people from the anti-nuclear and anti-coal movements, the Rhineland and Lausitz climate camps and the Hambacher Forest anti-coal campaign. They are from grassroots climate action groups, large environmental organisations, left political groups and many other campaigns, groups and networks. They all share the belief that to stop climate change we need to take action ourselves, using civil disobedience as a powerful signal for real action to put our climate before profit.

They organize themselves in local groups and working groups. We take the future in our hands:

System Change not Climate Change!

See the video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kLzT3qOZ-mk>

Mission

No climate justice without anti-racism! Racism is everywhere. Contrary to the narrative “something like this would only exist on the right wing”, racism is rooted in the most diverse social groups in Germany. Even structures critical of power that reject exclusion and discrimination are not free of racism and colonial-ideological continuities. This also affects actors of the German climate (justice) movement, such as Ende Gelände, Fridays for Future and Co. To ensure that criticism is no longer just empty words, these problems must be worked through and dismantled. This concerns questions like:

- Who talks to the press?
- Who sets the agenda?
- Who can participate in the actions? who is excluded?
- Which language is used?
- Where are my needs as BIPOC ignored?
- Who addresses the topic racism?
- Which strategies do we develop in and around actions to create spaces for protection and empowerment?
- When do I take space and when is it time to hand over the microphone?
- What demands are called for by parts of the alliance that mainly benefit white people make?

Tasks (prepare the answers on a flipchart)

- Check the website of the movement and collect the basic information about the EG
 - Whats the aim of the movement?
 - With whom and where do they work?
 - How do they get active?
 - In what projects do they work?
- Where do you see a connection to the topic of climate action in the work of EG?
- What do you like about the organization/movement?
- What is missing in your opinion?

Station 4: Pacific climate warriors

Name: Pacific climate warriors

Website: <https://world.350.org/pacificwarriors/>

Location: Pacific Island Nations

Connection to weltwärts: none directly

Basic information:

“Every morning, we wake up and the ocean is there, surrounding our island. But now the ocean, driven by climate change is creeping ever closer. Unless something changes, many of our Pacific Islands face losing everything to sea level rise. For 20 years we’ve asked world leaders to take action to stop polluting the atmosphere. We cannot wait longer. Now, warriors of the Pacific are rising peacefully to protect the Pacific Islands from climate change. Our message: We are not drowning. We are fighting.

Five years ago, our network of young Pacific Islanders began to form under the name of 350 Pacific, to join with the global climate change movement, 350.org. Active in 15 of the Pacific Island Nations, we have a unique approach of empowering young people to understand the issue of climate change and to take action to protect and enrich our islands, cultures, and oceans.”

Watch the video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FCVa0nKSVv4&feature=youtu.be>

Mission

Pacific nations are some of the most vulnerable to the impacts of climate change. Due to their small size, low elevation, and remote locations, many Islands are already suffering due to global emissions. The impacts vary from place to place, but include:

- Rising sea levels and increased number and severity of storm activity leading to inundation, storm surges, beach erosion and coral bleaching
- rising saltwater tables impacting deep rooted food crops such as coconut, pulaka, and taro and infiltrating fresh water supplies,
- Drier climate conditions reducing the islands’ already limited water resources to the point that they become insufficient to meet demand during increasing low-rainfall periods.

Tasks (prepare the answers on a flipchart)

- Check the website of the organization and collect the basic information about the Pacific Climate Warriors
 - Whats the aim of the movement/organization?
 - With whom and where do they work?
 - How do they get active?
 - In what projects do they work?
- Where do you see a connection to the topic of climate action in the work of Pacific Climate Warriors?
- What do you like about the organization/movement?
- What is missing in your opinion?

Station 5: Women for climate justice

Name: Women for climate justice

Website: <https://womenclimatejustice.nationbuilder.com/>

Location: global

Connection to weltwärts: none directly

Basic information:

The Women's Global Call for Climate Justice is a global campaign organized collectively by a group of regionally diverse women's rights and feminist organizations, brought together by the urgent need for just action on climate change. Holding ad-hoc meetings since December 2014, in June these organizations formed an informal Coordinating Committee for the campaign and launched the call for endorsements on July 14th 2015. The Campaign aims to be decentralized and encourage actions from women's groups, feminist initiatives and allied organizations in all regions, countries, cities and communities around the world, as well as some coordinated actions in the lead up to COP21 in December in Paris, France. Watch the video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YJ8PqAeF-Ek&feature=youtu.be>

Mission

"WE ARE WOMEN AND GIRLS OF ALL AGES, IN ALL OUR DIVERSITY, FROM EVERY REGION OF THE WORLD. We are gravely concerned about the lack of just and sufficient action on climate change by the world's leaders; We are concerned about the increasing number of disastrous mega storms that are killing people, eradicating species, and destroying ecosystems and livelihoods; We are concerned about sea-level rise and disappearing land masses, in addition to the serious environmental and human casualties caused by droughts, desertification, ocean acidification, water salination, crop failures, air pollution, oil spills, plastics and other pollution, glacier melt, record warm summers and cold winters, and out-of season cyclones and tsunamis; We are concerned about all women and the communities and environments in which we live, including those of us from indigenous lands and oceanic societies who have contributed the least to climate disruption but who are suffering the greatest impacts first and most intensely; We refuse to allow corporate control of our planet, our rights, or sanction a world that prioritizes growth and greed over human rights, decent and equal work, healthy ecosystems and a just distribution of wealth!"

Tasks (prepare the answers on a flipchart)

- Check the website of the organization and collect the basic information about the Woman for climate justice
 - Whats the aim of the movement/organization?
 - With whom and where do they work?
 - How do they get active?
 - In what projects do they work?
- Where do you see a connection to the topic of climate action in the work of Woman for climate justice?
- What do you like about the organization/movement?
- What is missing in your opinion?